Success in Brief Podcast: A Fresh Perspective On A Legal Career with Rosanne Felicello and Blaire Bernard, General Counsel at WelbeHealth

In this episode of Success In Brief with Rosanne Felicello, we welcome guest Blaire Bernard, General Counsel at WelbeHealth, a mission-driven, value-based organization founded by doctors. WelbeHealth provides full-service healthcare and personalized support to help seniors age well at home and in their community.

Tune in to this episode as Blaire talks about:

- How she came to work with startups
- Building teams to support knowledge gaps
- Networking, and how it has impacted her career
- Advice she would give to new law school graduates

Blaire Bernard is a high performing attorney with 20 years' healthcare law experience in private and in-house practice. Her broad experience includes successfully advising healthcare systems, hospitals and physician groups on matters involving multi-state and federal regulatory and compliance issues, in particular Medicare reimbursement practices.

Blaire has a history of reducing legal expenses – and increasing in-house expertise – by partnering with executive leaders and empowering them through training and education. She is a personable individual with strong communication skills and high emotional intelligence.
