Success in Brief Podcast: Applying Legal Experience in the Private and Not-For-Profit Sector with Rosanne Felicello and Renee Eubanks, Co-Chair of University Settlement

In this episode of Success In Brief with Rosanne Felicello, we welcome guest Renee Eubanks, Co-Chair of University Settlement, a not-for-profit that works with low income New Yorkers.

Tune in to this episode as Renee talks about:

- How she graduated with an MBA and JD from 2 different schools at the same time
- How her experience at the DOJ influenced her private practice
- Why she proactively expanded her experience to broaden her skills
- How (and why) she launched her own private practice firm
- Her work with University Settlement, and the services the organization provides

Since October 2016, Renee Eubanks has managed her own law firm, the Eubanks Law Firm, PLLC, where she focuses her practice representing hedge funds, private equity funds and banks that are involved in the purchase and sale of distressed debt, primary debt and private equity securities. The firm also represents start-up companies regarding corporate organizational issues, equity and note issuance, and other matters involved in Seed and Series A financing rounds.

In addition, Renee is the Co-Chair of University Settlement, a not-for-profit that works with low income New Yorkers.
